Welcome to Servino on Ark Row

The Wine Book is a tribute to Italy's diverse wine growing regions, and to the some of country's most celebrated producers of classical and natural wine. Our collection is a curation of wines that we enjoy at our family table, from the most casual dinners to formal affairs.

We thoughtfully select wines that have a strong sense of place and are best enjoyed with the food on your plate. Like the produce we source for your meals, we strive to find wines that are made from grapes that are grown organically and biodynamically with minimal intervention or manipulation.

Every day, we cherish the relationships with growers, producers, and distributors that we have built over the last 40+ years, which makes it all the more special when we get to showcase their hard work.

Salute!

Paolo Bea

The Bea family has been farming on the hills Montefalco in Central Umbria since the early 1500's. In the 20th century, Paolo and his son Giampiero, were pillars in the natural wine movement by resisting modern techniques and machinery to advocate organic farming without chemicals. Today, they remain the benchmark for exceptional fruit, dynamic and singular wines..

Amarotti

While the Amarotti wines are relatively new to the scene, 2016 was the first vintage, the estate and farming practices date back to 1521. Today, Gaetano Carboni crafts pure and expressive examples of Trebbiano and Montepulciano under the advice and inspiration of his neighbor, the great Eduardo Valentini. These wines are alive and ever-changing in the glass, and will be exciting to watch evolve in the years to come..
